

Motivation Statement

July 8, 2022

Dear ISBF Board Committee:

My motivations for running of re-electing the Board Member for the International Society of Biofabrication are as follows:

- 1) Consider as an honor to devote my service to the society: I have been associated with the ISBF since day one and I have always been actively engaging in the research and development in this field. As a board member, I would like to continue providing my service and contribution to the ISBF.
- 2) Serve as a liaison for the ISBF official journal Biofabrication: I have been serving as Editor-in-Chief for Biofabrication since its inception in 2009. The journal has become the flagship in the field of Biofabrication with the new SCI Impact Factor 11.06. As a board member of ISBF and as role of Editor-in-Chief of Biofabrication, I would like to strength the tie between the society and the journal, and to facilitate the advance of the field.
- 3) Represent Biofabrication community in the region of China and Asia: Biofabrication is a booming research area in China and in Asia. As a board member, I can better represent and help to further grow the Biofabrication community in the region of China and Asia.

Respectfully submitted by,

Wei Sun, Ph.D.

*National Distinguished Professor and Director, Biomanufacturing Research Center, Tsinghua University, Beijing, China
weisun@tsinghua.edu.cn*

Editor-in-Chief, Biofabrication